Report to the Community

The New Jersey Recovery Fund supported Conserve Wildlife's successful (and the first ever) restoration of horseshoe crab habitat along more than a mile of New Jersey's Delaware Bay.

FOR NEARLY 35 YEARS, THE COMMUNITY FOUNDATION OF NEW JERSEY HAS BEEN A TRUSTED PARTNER IN THE STATE, WORKING WITH MORE THAN 1,000 FAMILIES, BUSINESSES, AND FOUNDATIONS TO TURN PRIVATE RESOURCES INTO CHARITABLE FUNDS THAT BENEFIT CAUSES AND COMMUNITIES ACROSS THE STATE, REGIONALLY, AND BEYOND.

Day in and day out, we meet generous-spirited people who share their philanthropic interests and goals with us. We identify worthwhile organizations and dedicated people doing great work, introduce them to each other, and foster relationships that have profound impact on the quality of life and well-being for so many.

We are often asked how, as a community foundation for the entire state, we can know and serve communities from the Highlands to Cape May Point. We do so by getting to know who is using creative energy and sheer determination to transform and enhance local communities, and then connecting them to people who want to be part of that change. In many ways they are changemakers – both the folks on the ground doing the work, and those who support them financially and as volunteers and community participants.

On the pages that follow, you'll read about three initiatives we've undertaken in the past year to broaden the impact that Community Foundation donors can have in the state. Each of these projects – stopping human trafficking in New Jersey, contributing to the state's recovery from Hurricane Sandy, and improving conditions for incarcerated youth – touch many lives and create conditions for systemic change.

These are the kinds of issues we will continue to advance as we enter our 35th year as a community foundation, in partnership with the inspiring donors who care about creating better, more vibrant communities across New Jersey.

Thank you for putting your charitable giving to use, and for enabling us to work together to realize our collective goals for a better New Jersey.

HUMAN TRAFFICKING

We had been monitoring the issue of human trafficking for a long time. When the Super Bowl came to New Jersey in February 2014, we knew it was the right time to act. Knowing that instances of human trafficking and forced prostitution spike during major international sporting events, we partnered with the New Jersey Coalition Against Human Trafficking well before game day and mobilized volunteers and other resources to prevent human trafficking in our state.

The 'weapon' of choice was an unlikely one – soap. Hotel bars of soap, to be exact. Our donors were able to purchase thousands of tiny soaps that had on their wrappers the National Human Trafficking Hotline. Scores of volunteers and Coalition members then distributed the soaps to hotels and motels in the vicinity of the Meadowlands over the course of several days that included training sessions to identify the signs of human trafficking. Human trafficking survivor Theresa Flores, who inspired the soap concept, was on hand and explained to the volunteers that, while a victim, her only time alone was in the bathroom, and she wished then that she knew the best way to escape her situation – such as a phone number to call for help.

Fortunately, a major FBI operation was underway at the same time as our efforts and led to the recovery of 16 trafficking victims, ranging in age from 13 to 17.

SANDY RECOVERY

Since Hurricane Sandy struck New Jersey, the Community Foundation, on behalf of its donors and in partnership with the Geraldine R. Dodge Foundation, supported the philanthropic community in providing leadership to help our state and its communities respond to the ravages of the storm.

Our three objectives since then have been to identify and highlight overlooked needs in the different communities that were hurt; work collaboratively across sectors to find and fund catalytic solutions to the recovery challenges we face; and deploy the needed talent and resources to help our communities recover.

Our Hurricane Sandy Relief Fund has supported efforts ranging from an emergency food program and the re-opening of a youth crisis shelter closed by the storm to helping replace first responder equipment and supporting local clean-up efforts.

The New Jersey Recovery Fund is a collaborative fund focused on long-term planning and sound recovery. The Fund has awarded grants to a range of organizations focused on three broad categories: planning and public policies that promote community resiliency and environmental protection (including deploying recovery managers in several key communities); engaging and informing the public about recovery decisions; and using the arts to foster individual and community healing and revitalization in affected communities.

Thank you to our CFNJ donors who contributed to our Hurricane Sandy relief and recovery efforts.

JUVENILE JUSTICE REFORM

Our work with nonprofits across New Jersey and our own on-the-ground research led us to a startling finding: the way sentences for juvenile offenders are enforced in New Jersey does not always lend itself to proper rehabilitation. Armed with new awareness of the conditions and lack of services available to the hundreds of young people under the supervision of the New Jersey Juvenile Justice Commission, the CFNJ Leadership Committee deployed a $30,000 grant to the Post-Disposition Advocacy Project at Rutgers School of Law – Newark. The Project hired an attorney to work with the scores of incarcerated young people who are isolated from their families and communities and in need of sustained legal representation.

- Suffered severe laceration to eyeball in the detention center
- Immediately sent to his room instead of the infirmary
- Eventually brought to the hospital for two surgeries
- Upon return, placed in medical isolation room for 23 hours per day for four months
- Released from isolation per ADVOCACY PROJECT request

- Suffered damage to eye and orbital socket requiring emergency surgery
- Mother not informed of medical needs and R.T. refused further surgeries, not understanding what they entailed
- Mother contacted ADVOCACY PROJECT and with their help was brought into the process and advised R.T. to receive surgery

- Repeatedly expressed strong interest in scholastic opportunities
- Was wrongly advised that schooling was not an option
- Ultimately secured teaching assistant position after ADVOCACY PROJECT'S insistence

- Reported excruciating toothache
- Request for a dentist appointment declined for two months
- Dentist brought in with ADVOCACY PROJECT'S support, identified need for two root canals

Interested donors have joined the Community Foundation on strategies to improve the conditions for incarcerated youth and ensure that their time spent in detention facilities is deliberately rehabilitative and structured.

Thank you to the CFNJ donors who are supporting our work to improve New Jersey's juvenile justice system.

Many voices, broad impact.

CREATE A FUND

Individuals, families, and businesses may create funds to serve their giving, leverage the Community Foundation's expertise and support, and maintain a high degree of flexibility. The Community Foundation works closely with donors to understand their philanthropic goals and identify the right type of fund.

TALK TO US ABOUT YOUR CHARITABLE LEGACY

Funds at the Community Foundation are frequently part of a family's estate planning as they consider their charitable legacy. The Community Foundation will work with donors to set up a fund that aligns with their goals and continues to have impact in the community in a way that protects and extends their legacy.

JOIN A COMMUNITY FOCUSED ON FINDING SOLUTIONS

Beyond supporting the work of donors' funds, the Community Foundation also strives to stay on top of the issues affecting our communities – whether those issues are tough, complex, or too often overlooked – and share the most effective and creative solutions. We invite you to join us in driving lasting change on these issues.

To create your own fund, learn about building a charitable legacy, or read more about the important issues the Community Foundation's donors are addressing, visit www.CFNJ.org or call (973) 267-5533.

We welcome your participation.
